

NJHS Essay- Leadership

I think that my friend Friends Name shows leadership because she takes action when she needs to. This is one of the qualities that I love about her. She participates a lot in activities and is very loyal to her friends and teachers. She knows when she needs to be serious and when she can be silly and goofy. At the lunch table, she is a fun and loving friend, but when things get out of hand, she knows that she needs to take charge. I look up to her a lot. She is a great leader, and she knows how and when to take charge. Friends Name knows what she is doing, and if she doesn't, she is not afraid to ask. Friends Name is like a sister to me, and when I need help, she gives me good advices, and she is always there for me. She is a good leader, but she is not controlling or bossy, which makes her a great leader. She is honest and helpful in group activities. Like a teacher, she explains stuff that I don't understand (calmly and slowly). She doesn't give up until I fully understand something (like a math problem). She watches my back and sticks up for me when I need someone to stick up for me. She is a good listener, whether it is a story, idea, or a problem. She tries to help as much as she can. When she is in a position of which she needs to be a leader, she doesn't act silly, but at the same time, she doesn't misuse the power. I know for sure that if she does get into a position where there are a lot of people and they are being disruptive, she will take charge, and place things in order. She is always ready to lend a hand. Friends Name's decisions that she makes are reasonable. She inspires me. She is very intelligent, and when it is the right time, she uses her knowledge to solve problems. She is very wise and shows qualities of being a leader. 😊
